● NOMOS ACE X NOMOS CLUB CAMPUS
AMSTERDAM LIMITED EDITION

In collaboration with Ace Jewelers in Amsterdam, Nomos presents a very beautiful limited edition of its Club Campus Nacht, a 38.5mm steel mechanical watch equipped with the manually wound Alpha in-house movement. In the Amsterdam version mounted on a grey velvet strap, the anthracite dial is highlighted by red indices picked out by a thin white line, and a red seconds hand. This is a nod to the Amsterdam flag, and the overall effect is highly aesthetic. Retailing at €1,400 including tax.

● JUNGHANS MEISTER TELEMETER

In 1951, Junghans united telemeter and tachymeter features in a chronograph for the first time. The central second hand made it possible to measure both average speed and distance. More than 67 years later, Junghans is presenting a re-edition of this sophisticated-looking watch. Highly legible, it looks not the slightest bit dated. 1830 self-winding movement with a small-seconds dial, 40.8mm steel case with a screwed glass case back, convex Plexiglas with scratch-resistant coating. Water-resistant to 30m. CHF1,990.

● KLOKERS KLOK-01

Recently crowned with the 2019 German Design Award, the KLOK-01 is the brand's first model (it has released others since), launched in 2014 by Nicolas Bouterin and Richard Piras. With the KLOK-01, it is not the hands that turn but three dials - one for the hours, one for the minutes and one for the seconds - that rotate in an anticlockwise direction. A mix of watchmaking expertise, fashion and style, of Swiss precision and French design, Klokers is tracing an unusual path, counter to conventional codes. The strap mounting system means that all Klokers products are independent, compatible and interchangeable. From €468.
